

WILL BE A DANDY

Fred Dold Says of the New Packing House.

WICHITA IS INVINCIBLE.

That is What People are Now Thinking.

Manager Fred Dold and Superintendent Charles Darrigand were busy yesterday figuring over the plans and specifications for the greater Dold packing house. Fred Dold has no doubt that the people of this city will fulfill their promise and he is planning to build one of the best packing houses in the west.

It seems that the Jacob Dold Packing Co., has given Fred Dold a free hand to build such a house as he wants and the young man had a broad smile on his face yesterday when he told a reporter for the Eagle that the new house would be a dandy. There are few men who know more about a packing house than Charles Darrigand and Fred Dold is consulting him about every part of the building.

There were men at work yesterday tearing the wooden roof from the engine room that was injured slightly by the fire and they will replace it with a heavy tin roof. It is the intention to have all the roofs of the new plant made of some substance that will not take fire from the sparks.

Fred Dold still has 125 people on his pay roll. They are men in the city who have families and worked in the packing house before the fire. They will hold their places and remove the rubbish from the burned part of the plant so as to make room for the new building. It is the intention of Fred Dold to be ready to commence the erection of the new plant immediately after the election if the people endorse the proposition which the city council is being petitioned to submit to a vote of the people.

Messrs. Dold and Darrigand are getting up the plans or rather changing the ones already prepared so as to make the new plant one of the most complete and convenient houses in the west. The Dold house before the fire was a good one and people can hardly realize that the new plant will have about three times the capacity of the old house. People about the packing house and the stockyards are jubilant and the country shippers agree with them that this last move of the Dolds will make Wichita the great packing center of the southwest beyond question.

The shippers who come to this market say that the determination of the Dolds to build larger than ever has done more than anything else to inspire confidence in Wichita as the great livestock market and packing center of the west. They say it shows that Wichita is going to stay in the new country south and west of it to develop the same as Kansas City grew and expanded when Kansas was developed. People all over Oklahoma and western Kansas realize that Wichita was at the point where she could not stop in her progress and continue to hold her commercial supremacy. They realized the same as the people of this city that Wichita must not lose a packing house, but must get more. That is the reason that the rebuilding of the Dold house is causing people all over the southwest to make up their minds that Wichita is invincible and that nothing short of a miracle can change her destiny.

WHEAT FEED PAYS

Anthony Firm Brings Premium Hogs to Market.

GAINED TWELVE POUNDS

Every Week After Being Put on the Feed.

Burchfield & Connell, the popular stock shippers at Anthony, Kan., are level headed business men and know a good thing when they see it. They read the Eagle's advice to farmers not to run off their hogs half fat when the drought scare came, but to feed them out on the fifty cent wheat that they were sending to market, and they made a nice thing by acting on the suggestion.

This wide-awake firm bought some thin hogs that the farmers were anxious to sell and put them in their feed lots at Anthony and bought wheat and had it chopped to feed the hogs. After feeding these hogs six weeks, they sold them yesterday to the John Cudahy Packing company, for $5 a hundred. The hogs were the best on the market and the Cudahy people wanted them to make their fine brands of meat, that is becoming so popular on the market, and when the hogs were priced at $5 it was a go without any further ceremony.

It will be remembered that the Eagle published an interview with John Cudahy about the time the farmers began to send their light hogs to market in which he took occasion to endorse the position taken by the Eagle in regard to feeding wheat, and stated further that he could not see any cheap hogs in the near future. He further stated that the farmer would not finish his hogs on wheat, would not only get more than the market price for his wheat, but he would make a higher price for the original weight of the hogs at the time he commenced to feed them wheat.

Both of these positions have been proven correct by the experiment of the wide-awake Anthony shippers. They not only got more than the market price for the wheat they fed to their hogs, but they made a nice little sum of money on their original purchase price of the hogs, by selling the top of the market. Mr. Burchfield came in charge of the hogs and he told the market reporter for the Eagle that he never saw hogs gain so fast as these hogs did when they were feeding on chopped Kansas wheat. He said they weighed scales and every Sunday morning weighed their hogs to see how much they were gaining and to his surprise, they kept up an even increase of twelve pounds to the hog every week. People generally count on one pound a day, but these wheat fed hogs gained an even dozen pounds for every seven days they were allowed to feast on that chopped wheat.

Mr. Burchfield said the hogs were doing so nicely that they wanted to feed them wheat awhile longer, but the buyers here kept squealing for good hogs until he finally concluded to bring them in. When the Anthony men sold their hogs there was a good deal of talk about feeding wheat, and pigs immediately advanced in price. Eldridge & Co., had bought six shoats nine days before that nobody else wanted, and put them in a pen and fed them wheat soaked in water to keep them growing. It was about feeding time and the pigs were squealing for their evening meal, when someone suggested that the pigs be brought out and weighed. The scales showed that the six pigs had gained fifty pounds in nine days. It would be difficult to tell how much wheat soaked in water they had gained if they had been allowed all the wheat they wanted.

Secretary Blackburn has four acres of cane adjoining the yards which he sowed to feed his horses, and one speculator said last evening he would give him $50 for the cane. He wanted to buy pigs and put them in the cane patch and feed them chopped cane. Colonel Fitzburn said he did not want to sell the sugar cane. Some of the people would like to see what the pigs would gain on chopped wheat when they had green cane to mix with the wheat.

IS QUIETLY GOING ON.

Work on Orient Road is Progressing Nicely.

On the surface there does not seem to be much doing in Orient district, but notwithstanding this fact, the work is quietly progressing and contracts for right of way are being secured.

The commissioners appointed by Judge Dyer, Col. Finch, Theodore Cawley and R. H. W. Rusk, will report for duty on the second of next month to condemn the right-of-way in this country. During the time of apparent inaction, A. M. Denny has been quietly securing right-of-way options from the farmers and it is believed there will not be very much for the condemnation commissioners to do. ## FELL TO PIECES

While Driving Across Car Track the Wagon Collapsed.

A serious accident occurred yesterday about noon on North Main street, in front of the Fletcher building. Mr. Duncan, a farmer, was driving his farm wagon across a street car track when suddenly the whole wagon gave way, wheels and all, and collapsed right on the track. Luckily the horses were gentle and did not attempt to run away. A street car came along about this time, but it had to wait until that part of the wagon that was whole could be removed. There were all kinds of pieces of kindling wood lying around. Although the accident might have been serious, it looked very funny to the bystanders who saw the wagon tumble to pieces.

NOT FAVORABLY IMPRESSED

Robert Jacks Does Not Think Much of New Oklahoma Towns.

Robert Jacks and Colonel Hutchinson returned from the new towns in Kansas land yesterday. Mr. Jacks says that the auction procedure is carefully slow and monotonous, and the discomfort of the bidders is great, as they stand in the broiling sun, ankle deep in dust most of the day.

Speaking of the exorbitant prices at which lots are going, Mr. Jacks says the cooler heads and those who understand town growth are keeping their hands off. At Anadarko the bidders are groping in the dark because no permanent location for the postoffice, which will determine the business center, has been decided upon. Mr. Jacks is not favorably impressed with the outlook in the new country, so far as towns are concerned.

WAS NOT A SUICIDE

Coroner Investigates Death of the Man at Kechi.

BOTH BLIND AND DEAF

And Walked Into the Train Without Suspecting It.

After a thorough search into the facts, Coroner McCollister has discovered that Hadden, the man who was struck by a train near Kechi, did not commit suicide. It will be remembered that the man was walking toward the train, when the engine struck him and killed him, and it was supposed that he had adopted an unusual way of killing himself. Mr. McCollister found that the facts were as follows:

Hadden was blind in one eye and in the other the sight was so defective, that he could not see out of it only when his head was raised. He was also deaf. With that strange propensity for railroad tracks common among the deaf, he was walking along the center of the road and could not hear and did not see the rapidly approaching train which struck him. A little girl in the neighborhood saw the accident, and she explained to the coroner that the action of the victim was such as to preclude the possibility of all suicidal intention. He was walking along with his head down and no idea of the nearness of death.

In his investigation the coroner found that the man had been in Enid, O. T., and had lost $100 in the big fire, which occurred in the business section of that city about four weeks ago.

Colonel Sam Amidon told a reporter for the Eagle, back of a farmer's wagon, on Market street, yesterday, placed his hand three times over his heart and swore solemnly that he never threatened the woman who is alleged to have been deceived by Dr. Dole with the penitentiary. He told the Eagle man that he has never seen her in his life, that he knows nothing about the case and never had any communication from Mr. Dole on the subject. All he knows about the case, he says, is what he has heard from others, and that he is too old to believe everything he hears.
